Ammo Powder Plant Still Is Struck

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite the quickening pace of the Viet Nam war, Pentagon officials followed a seemingly leisurely pace in arranging a second source for a special ammunition powder which is becoming increasingly important

This conciusion stems from the Pentagon relied on only one source for the ball powder used in ammunition for certain weapons in the hands of U.S. fighting The Army Wednesday ordered immediate activation of a government plant which can manufacture the propellant, called C846. But it will take about six months to get the Badger Army ammunition plant at Baraboo Wis., into production. Meanwhile, the only present source for the powder, the Olin

Mathieson Co. plant in East Alton, Ill., is shut down by a labor dispute that is now in its 30th By the Pentagon's own statement, the Army will face a crit-

New Books Help Cook

NEW YORK (UPI) - New culinary publications of interest to women include:

'A Matter of Taste" by Sylvia W. Humphrey (Macmillan): By describing the effect that specific seasonings have on specific foods, the author makes it easy for readers to develop recipes or add a personal touch to existing ones. The text is interesting; the recipes sound delicious. Both familiar and little-known herbs and spices are covered.

Fox Burros and Lois Levine which is a sauce containing wine, cream and fruit juice. One helpful chapter tells how to make your own frozen individual dinners using leftovers; another plans party menus for which most of the food can be prepared ahead and frozen.

The U. S. The Longest Day is topped off with what could very well be the best match of them all. The Orange Bowl's night game will pit Nebraska's undefeated mamouths against the much smaller, once beaten, once tied Crimson Tide of Alabama. It's still mystifying to many why Bama is a two-point favorite. And there could be some handypanky by betting syndicates involved as the rumors of this week of injuries to quarterback Steve Sloan and even a heart attack of Bear Bryant were supposedly started by the bookies. That would encourage wagers on the Huskers, though, indicating only that each has been slow for this one. Nebraska could get burned by Sloan's passing, but on the assumption that the huge Big Eight champions will wear 'em down and control the line of scrimmage. I'll go with Bob Devaney's ver-

The CAB theoretically is supposed to determine if a service is "needed" and if it finds that it is it is supposed to grant a permit. United Press International reports that on Dec 7, 1961, the federal board decided Western was entitled to serve points betwen the West Coast of the Mainland and Hawaii. But it did not grant the certificate. After futilely seeking the permit through the regular channels, Western finally took the case to court, and Dec. 1 of this year the appellate court told the board either to grant or deny the application.

The CAB denial now goes back to the federal court for review. What will happen next is anyone's guess.

She doesn't own a share of your company's stock. She'd be bored at a board meeting. She wouldn't know a milling machine from a milking machine.

But she's the Boss. She's Mrs. Great American Middle Class-and if she doesn't buy your consumer product or service, all that machinery in your plant can get pretty Thank heaven, she wants to buy, for many reasons. If you help her, she will

Our job is to help you help her.
